Gasoline Tax Apportions Over $140,000

The May apportionment of gasoline taxes has brought more than $140,000 to west valley cities, the state controller's office announced Monday.

The largest apportionment went to Ontario with $46,038, followed by Upland with $24,645, Rialto $21,514, Fontana $16,575, Montclair $16,158 and Chino $15,671.

Of the $64.8 million, the majority, $59.4 million came from gasoline taxes, $3.5 million from diesel fuel taxes, $1.9 million from the transportation tax fund and $1,677 from miscellaneous sources.

City Oks Formation Of Improvement District

Upland City Council approved the formation of a 23rd St. improvement district Monday night over the protests of Hillis Hauck, resident on the southeast corner of San Antonio Ave. and 23rd St.

Under provisions of the state's 1911 Act, such assessment districts can be formed for curb, gutter and sidewalk development when more than 60 percent of the property frontage on a block is already developed.

Hauck claimed the installation of sidewalk would eliminate 3,650 square feet of his 20,000 square foot lot. "I would like a visual view of my property," he said.

"Just because one woman across the street had sidewalk and I didn't she decided she should make a complaint," Hauck argued there were issues more pressing in the city than his block and questioned the council's prompt proceedings. "The signal light at 23rd and San Antonio St. has been burned out for some time, yet that hasn't been taken care of."

Councilman Max Hawkins, member of the street and light committee, told Hauck the location had been viewed three times with a great deal of consideration into the matter.

Councilman Harold Bailin interjected, "As a member of the committee I'd like to say we've gone over maps and the property a number of times. Either we're going to build a sidewalk on the properties in question or we don't. The entire area is being developed with curbs and gutters and has a history of flooding. Curbs and gutters will protect us from flooding."

"I think we've gone as far as we can go in cooperating. If we don't approve a district here we'll have the entire city protesting the next one."

Hauck stated he moved into the property last March, after some of the past proceedings in the area. I don't have the money to do the work, but I'm mostly concerned about the damage to my front property. I'm going to lose a great deal of foliage and shrubbery."

Hauck estimated the work for his 75 feet of frontage for sidewalk, and gutter and blacktopping would cost $2,000.

The council rescheduled to its first meeting in July a request by Resnick Co. for a zone change from A-1 (agriculture) to R-1-B (residential "B" standards) for 10 acres of property on the north side of 20th St. east of San Antonio Ave. pending review by the planning commission of a A-1 - R-1-B demarkation line in the area.

City Manager Elwin Alder explained the planning commission had recommended approval of the project 4-2. The area is bordered by A-1 zoning north, west and south. Alder added there were future plans for park development to the west.

Mayor Abner Haldeman suggested waiting until the planning commission had formalized a demarkation line for the two zonings.

City Budget Ends Year In The 'Red'

During the city's first budget session held last week, City Manager Elwin "Pinky" Alder told councilmen that a $12,000 salary had been omitted inadvertently from the preliminary budget -- thus the city's balanced budget of $6,684,000 for fiscal 1973-74 ended up $14,715 in the red. The salary was for professional services to the city from an outside source.

Councilman Harold (Hal) Bailin moved to grant the fire department an additional $2,715 for purchase of new safety clothing at $1,875 and new safety helmets at $840. The council agreed unanimously. City administration had deleted the item from Fire Chief Lamphear's original request. Lamphear told the council the cotton-duck coats and pants now being worn are considered to be in good condition but he explained that new, flame-resistant fabrics are now available. "The $1,875 for new coats and pants would be a small token to show your interest in the fire department," he told the council.

He explained his request for a new intermediate typist clerk (receptionist) at a salary of $6,420. Bailin suggested the department could get by with a three-quarter time receptionist at a salary of $5,482. The motion to hire a three-quarter time receptionist for the first department went down to defeat with a three to two vote.

The council deferred final action on hiring of the receptionist, on requests from the planning department, engineering department, police department, city attorney and for sidewalk repairs until the next budget session June 6 at 7 p.m. in Council Chambers.

There was considerable discussion about a proposed increase of $2,185 in city attorney Donald Maroney's fees. Bailin mentioned the possibility of hiring a half-time attorney for the city instead of paying retainers fees to Maroney. It was agreed to table the discussion until Maroney can discuss the matter with the council.

Bailin questioned the different brands and prices of electric typewriters as requested by different departments. He wondered why the city didn't demand standardization of a single brand. City Manager Alder said different departments have needs for different models.

City Engineer Fred Blanchard explained to the council why he felt two additional personnel were necessary in his department. "I think our department is undermanned and not doing an adequate job."

City administration turned the personnel request down because of space limitations.

Bailin again questioned the $15,000 open space and conservation study which the city is considering having done professionally by an outside firm. "Why can't we use the county form like other cities and localize it?" Bailin asked.

Planning Director Rod Anderson pointed out that the proposed study by Lampman and Associates of Pomona will include more than the state required open space and conservation elements.

Upland Cadets Bring Home Share Of Trophies

Half of the trophies awarded to outstanding cadets during the recent 10-week training program at San Gabriel Valley Law Enforcement Academy in Pasadena went to Uplanders.

All 25 members of the Upland Explorer Cadets participated in the extensive training sessions which lasted a minimum of 8 hours a day every Saturday for the 10 weeks.

Cadet Tony Byrnes won a trophy for Academic Achievement; Clay Estes won third place for overall physical excellence and Edward Wilson won a trophy for Academic Achievement.

Det. Gary Hart of the Upland P.D., said some 86 police trainees participated with eight different police departments represented. Officers took turns volunteering time to assist in training. Along with Hart, Steve Malone, Bob Smeaton and Rudy Mora from Upland participated in the instruction.

Hart said the facility is operated like a mini-police academy with cadets receiving identical training to that of adult officers but in an intensified and abbreviated format.

Five girls are members of the Explorer Cadets and participated fully in the sessions as did the boys.

Hart said the students will have more free time this summer to participate in functions of the police and to "ride-along" on calls with officers more often.

The popular police training program started last August with 20 members and five have since been added.

Bi monthly training meetings are held at police headquarters. The Explorers are not salaried and are expected to pay for their own uniforms. Hart said the main purpose of the program is to give practical experience to kids interested in law enforcement and to better prepare them for careers in the field. Presenting a positive image of the Police Department to the community is an important sidelight function also.

15M-Plus Donated To SA Hospital

At the recent annual meeting of the San Antonio Community Hospital Women's Auxiliary it was reported that a total of $15,010,56 in gifts and 10,452 volunteer hours had been given to the hospital this past year. During the meeting, a portion of the total money, the $2,014,56 proceeds from the Carrousel Dinner Dance, was presented to Robert Sherwood, chairman of the SACH Foundation Board, by Mrs. Robert Spencer, auxiliary president.

Mrs. James Sullivan was installed as the new president of the hospital's Women's Auxiliary. Serving with Mrs. Sullivan will be: the Mmes. George M. Gibson, first vice president; Belle Robertson, second vice president; Richard McElvany, third vice president; Robert Wright, secretary; Isaac Funk, treasurer; Gus Zemba, public relations chairman; Edward Cavanaugh, program chairman; Ray Rehkop, personal membership chairman; Joseph Schechter, Sick Baby Fund chairman; Stanley Curatolo, Free Bed Fund chairman; Richard Davidson, Mary Louise Griffith Heart Fund chairman; Robert G. Williamson, Gift Shop chairman; Bruce Keeling, Maternity Tours chairman; Shannon Holsinger, Bookmobile chairman; and James B. Back, Volunteers chairman.

The advisory board will be comprised of Hans G. Wik, administrative adviser; and the Mmes. Earl Johnson, Robert Spencer, John E. Skewis, George Chalfant and Frank C. Melone.

City Planning Commission Studies Noise Pollution

Noise pollution was the main topic of discussion at the last meeting of the Upland Planning Commission held May 24 in Council Chambers. The commissioners granted a zoning variance to Pacific Nursery Pots, 1431 W. 9th St. for a plastic manufacturing press. The variance was approved by the planners with the stipulation that a normal noise level of no more than 65 decibels be maintained. The plant, which now produces metal cans, presently produces an 84 decibel noise level at the plant's property line, according to a noise study presented by the applicant. The new plastic press is supposed to be much quieter -- even though it is larger than the present press. Also, the company is to phase out deliveries of metal cans, a major source of the present noise levels at the pot plant.

The planners declined to require an environmental impact report on the new press operation. The consensus was the new operation would have less of an effect on the surrounding area than the present activities at the nursery pot plant.

In other matters the planners: --Granted a zone change for 13.6 acres at the northwest corner of San Antonio Ave. and 22nd St. The new zoning will allow the applicant Andrew Barmakian to construct a planned unit development.

--Planners disagreed with a staff recommendation and declined to require an environmental impact report for a 50 unit PUD east of North Grove Ave. and north of the Red Hill golf course.

--The commission deleted an ordinance requirement that said commercial and professional buildings in the Upland Town Center area should provide one parking space for every 200 square feet of building space. Instead, the planners will review each parking requirement for new building proposals separately.

and Edward Wilson, all received trophies from the San Gabriel Valley Law Enforcement Academy.

THE NEWS--BRIEFLY

Sister City Visitor Due Here

Mrs. Althea Correll, president of the Town Affiliation Association, announced that Upland will host another visitor from its Sister City of Mildura, Australia this weekend.

Mrs. Correll said Mr. and Mrs. Michael Jobson of Mildura will arrive tomorrow morning -- sightsee in Upland all day and then be guests for a progressive dinner to be given by the TAA that night. Mr. Jobson is a member of the Mildura City Council and is a Councillor.

New Class Officers Elected

Students at Upland High School have elected class officers for school year 1973-74. They are: Larry Schmidt, president; Scott Kelly, vice president; Jeff Girard, advertising manager; Stu DuVal, treasurer; Diane Lukas, pep commissioner; Patti Jakobic, secretary; and Kathy Voss, social chairman.

'Freddy' To Appear At Library

Freddy the Ferocious Dragon will appear Monday, June 18, at the Upland Public Library to greet children at the start of the Summer Reading Program.

The Junior Book Club is for children who read. Its theme is "Witches and Giants, and a Dragon or Two." Each child will have a picture of the Dragon's Magic Mountain. To reach the top of the mountain you read ten books (more if you like). Each child's name will be posted on the wall of the Dragon's Den.

The Read-to-Me Club, for pre-schoolers and others, is using the story of "Little Bear," by Else Minarik, as its theme. Little Bear tries to get the honey out of the bees' hive, and the bees trip to stop him.

Art Appreciation Course Offered

Adult education course in art appreciation will be offered by Chaffey College at Ontario High School from 9 a.m. until 12 noon on Tuesdays, June 26 through Aug. 14.

Covered will be such points as the techniques of pictorial, sculptural and architectural art forms and the art experiences of historic and contemporary cultures. The instructor will be Mrs. Elizabeth Stocks.

Registration will be at the first class session in Room 101 of the high school.

Physical Education Class Set

The Ontario-Upland YMCA will conduct a special Physical Education class for any 5 to 13 year old boy or girl who has coordination or neurological difficulties. The class starts Friday, June 8 from 4 to 6 p.m. and thereafter for 10 weeks. The program taught by a well qualified staff, led by Cal Poly Graduate Ted Flores, will attempt to provide skill instruction for youngsters who have perceptual difficulties.

'Good Old Days' This Weekend

Don't forget to come to Upland Town Center next weekend for the fifth annual "Good Old Days" celebration. Many exciting events are planned by the merchants association for the two day celebration. Cash prizes will be awarded to best costumes depicting the by-gone days. Call the Upland Chamber of Commerce for further information at 982-8816.

EHAP Applications Still Available

Persons may fill out applications until Friday, June 22, for the countywide Experimental Housing Allowance Program (EHAP). San Bernardino County will conduct the program for three years, providing assistance to a maximum of 900 families. Applications must be submitted in person at the Upland Housing Authority, 1248 N. Campus Ave., Upland, from 1-5 p.m.

Bingo Night, June 21

Cucamonga District Lions Club announces the last monthly Bingo Night on Thursday night, June 21 beginning at 8 p.m. at the Pines Mobile Park, 9999 Foothill Blvd., Cucamonga. Admission is $3.50 and proceeds go towards supporting the club's charitable projects. The Bingo Nights will resume the third Thursday in September.

Upland Night, June 19

There are still tickets left for Upland Night at Dodger Stadium. Tickets are $5 per person for bus transportation to and from the Stadium on Tuesday, June 19. Los Angeles Dodgers versus Atlanta Braves. Buses leave at 6 p.m. from the corner of 1st and C Sts. Contact the Upland Chamber of Commerce for further information.

Local Companies Receive Money From 'AID'

Stoner Electronics Company in Alta Loma and Ameron Steel Producing in Etiwanda are among the California manufacturers and suppliers who received money in '72 for commodities shipped to less developed countries under foreign aid programs of the Agency for International Development (AID).

A total of $32,086,080 was distributed to state manufacturers and suppliers last year under the AID program.

The figure brings to $213,166,405 the total value of AID commodities purchased in California in the four-year period since '69.

The commodities produced by U. S. workers help support economic development programs in the world's poor countries.

Stoner Electronics received $1,590 and Ameron Steel received $6,282 under the AID program.

In all, more than 5,000 manufacturers and suppliers in all 50 states received AID-financed commodity orders amounting to more than $2.9 million over the past four years. This dollar figure doesn't include the approximately $4 million in U. S. agricultural commodities also shipped to poor nations in the same period under the Food for Peace program.

To meet critical import requirements of the developing nations, AID shipments covered a wide range of U. S. products including agricultural and industrial equipment, iron and steel mill products, electrical equipment, engines and turbines, fertilizers, motor vehicles, chemicals and rubber products.

Teepee Times Announces New Staffers

Beverly Barrett, staff advisor for the Alta Loma High School newspaper the "Tepee Times," recently announced staff positions for the coming year.

Alice Lorenz and Virginia Schmidke were named co-editors. They'll be third year journalism students next year.

Sports editor for 1973-74 will be Aquilino Diaz. He was also this year's sports editor. Mark Blevins and Betsy Saulsbury were named co-editors of the feature page. They're first year journalism students.

Photographers for '73-74 will be Mark Blevins, Rick De La Mora, and Betsy Saulsbury. Exchange editor, in charge of exchanging papers with other schools, will be Rhonda Peterson.

Three members of the 'Tepee Times' staff also were made members of Quill and Scroll, the International Honorary Society for High School Journalists. To be eligible, a student must be a sophomore or above, be in the top third of his class, and perform superior work in some phase of journalism.

New members include: Aquilino Diaz, Tricia Gingerich and Betsy Saulsbury.

Tepee Times staffers who are already Quill and Scroll members are Jane Colombero, John Corona, this year's editor, Alice Lorenz, Virginia Schmidke, Becky Stidham and Diane Yoder.

New Elementary School Slated

In a letter sent to parents of children in the Alta Loma School District, Supt. Floyd Stork told about the new Jasper Street Elementary School.

He said construction will begin late next fall on the first unit of five classrooms of the new school to be located at Jasper and 18th Streets. Occupancy is scheduled for the Spring of '74. For the interim year, '73-'74, the Board of Trustees recently adopted the following school assignment policy:

--"There will be a realignment of kindergarten boundaries so that four sections of kindergarten will be housed at Alta Loma and two at Carnelian.

--"All students moving into the new tract of homes west of Carnelian and south of La Grande will be bussed to Alta Loma School. This will hopefully result in no school attendance boundary changes for existing elementary pupils."

Stork said some additional staggering of the starting times for the two elementaries will be necessary to accommodate the added bus schedules and reduce the time children must be at Alta Loma School before school starts.

Stork also said the cafeteria at Alta Loma School will be temporarily remodeled to house an additional four classrooms for next year as Carnelian's was for this year.

He added: "We urge all parents to inform the school immediately if they move from the district or move within the district. It will help our planning greatly. The room assignments for elementary pupils will be sent about a week before school starts in the fall. We must send these out as late as possible because it's impossible to predict the number and level of new enrollees."

Two Cal Poly Students Studying Cucamonga Fault

Two Cal Poly students have taken an interest in studying the Cucamonga Fault and the "earth rupture zone" connected with it.

Larry Herber, an Alta Loman, who is a geology professor at Cal Poly, is heading up the study for several reasons -- the main one being that the fault is there and hasn't been well mapped. Herber lives about a half mile south of the fault line which runs from Lytle Creek westerly above Etiwanda, Alta Loma, Cucamonga, Upland and on to the Sierra Madre area.

Also, a recent study of a seven mile stretch of the fault across the West End indicates it may be active. The scientific reason for starting the study was to see how the Cucamonga Fault relates to the much-publicized San Andreas Fault.

Within a three month period this year, the Cucamonga Fault was reported to have "moved" approximately two-hundredths of a foot, according to evidence gathered by Glen Winslow, an engineering technology major.

Winslow conducted two surveys -- one on Jan. 20 and the second on April 29. He found between those dates movement of the fault amounting to about two-hundredths of a foot in a left lateral direction, opposite to movement on the San Andreas Fault.

"We can't say whether it's a continuous creeping or if it moved rather suddenly," Herber remarked. "Faults do move without earthquakes."

Herber, who began mapping the fault out about a year and a half ago as part of a research study, said at the time, "we never suspected strong movement along the Cucamonga Fault ... we had no evidence to determine whether movement had been happening."

Now they do have evidence suggesting it's an active fault, Herber said, and he and the two seniors working on the study are trying to determine whether the movement is continuous or abrupt.

A "creep" meter is being installed across a segment of the fault in the East Etiwanda Canyon area to determine its movement. "Creep meter" is a home-made device built by Cal Poly students, that consists of four concrete monuments connected by diagonal wires. The concrete monuments are placed on either side of the fault and are connected by the wires which have a strain gauge on them that reads to 0.001 of an inch.

When the "creep meter" is fully operational, Herber said "it will tell us along one segment whether we're getting a creep-like movement or whether we're getting specific movement episodes."

Professor Herber said: "Residential developments are expanding rapidly into the area which makes it imperative to map this thing and know where it is."

"What sparked one of these projects," Herber said, "was if the San Andreas Fault is moving to the south and northwest of us and not moving north of us, we thought our fault may be taking up some of the movement that's not being recorded by the San Andreas Fault."

Rollin Eckis was one of the first people to study the Cucamonga Fault. He did a study in the early '20s as part of a ground water survey. Another little known fault in the area is the Red Hill Fault, which "might be part of the Cucamonga Fault," said Herber.

A Funny Thing Happened At The Upland Kiosk

By PATRICIA REID

It was 11 a.m. at the Upland Kiosk. Just about time for the merchants to come outside for a mid-morning, before lunch stroll and the car activity around the Kiosk to start picking up.

I was thinking to myself how convenient and nice and easy this photo assignment would be... just a few feet from my office... what could be simpler? Arriving on time at the Kiosk for another photo-taking session for the "Good Old Days" celebration in Upland Town Center, I found a very nice looking large black dog and a man from the MOTOC Dog Obedience Club along with a woman from the club, with a very sweet looking baby in a stroller and a friendly young boy. Soon John Meyer from the Upland Chamber showed up and shortly thereafter... photographer Jay Phillips from the Daily Report.

Ah... I didn't get it wrong before the long weekend after all; there really WAS a photo assignment at the Kiosk today. Consulting with the group present stories differed as to the photo content. Virginia Mitchell, who's handling publicity for the Upland Chamber, did a terrific job of setting up the photo and calling EVERYONE (literally mobs). However, it wasn't possible for her to be present at the shooting, so, us dummies stood around trying to make small talk and to compare stories on what each thought he was doing there. It all sounded very straight on the surface, but thinking back it was pretty humorous because everyone had a different idea of the event.

About a quarter past 11, Chamber Manager Tony Malone and his "Number One Girl" Kathy arrived at the scene to straighten us all out(?). Malone had a very jolly and positive outlook that everything would go well and as planned(?). After a few more minutes he said: "All I can do is set it up and keep my fingers crossed."

Kathy informed us that "Bee-Bee" the clown was on hand -- he'd been spotted in the Upland Chamber offices just before. Malone couldn't understand why it was taking "Bee-Bee" so long to get dressed. He fled nervously to the phone. Before his return, "Bee-Bee" flew in at a fast speed in his new gold Cadillac -- with heads turning every which way at the ludicrous sight of a painted clown speeding through the otherwise calm Upland Town Center. No matter to "Bee-Bee," who distinguishes himself with a bee on the tip of his long nose. He's been in the make-people-look-and-laugh business for some 30 years. He walked right down the center of the street in his bright, funny garb with very oversized, multi-colored shoes. Before long another untypical character could be seen circling the Kiosk area with a very friendly and charismatic smile on his face -- none of us know who or why he was there, but I think everyone gathered at the Kiosk for this photo happening figured he MUST be part of the act.

Malone spent a little while chasing down "Bee-Bee" and the character in the car with the Large Mustache, who turned out to be none other than "Mr. Mustache" -- An Official Keystone KOP.

There... late, but all together almost! Photographer Phillips and I asked each other what the dog and clown had to do with each other... what the KOP was all about... Good Old Days? Upland Chamber of Commerce? Dog Obedience? Oh, well. It was too much fun to leave at this point.

Before we knew it, a very beautiful vintage car drove up (after it was lifted from a flatbed truck). An elderly man was first seen proudly at the steering wheel -- didn't get the story on this one, but I assume it's an old car that's rented for various old time celebrations. The old man was so proud of the antique machine.

The last crucial couple to arrive were the dog people... Francis X. Lohmann and Margaret Wells, who help write the syndicated column "Kanine Korner" for a chain of Southern California newspapers.

AT LAST -- the actors were all there and together! Without wanting to upset the applecart, Photographer Phillips and I didn't say a word, let ALL the characters do as they pleased for a while with the old car as we snapped away. Pretty soon Mr. Mustache started performing with cute gestures and wide-eyed expressions so characteristic of the comic KOPS. Clown Bee-Bee started getting into the spirit and doing his thing while Lohmann and the Big Black Dog got together in the back seat of the car and started kissing and really loving each other. (Lohmann really does have a magical WAY with dogs -- turns them right on.)

Malone was very busy trying to stop noontime traffic at the Kiosk while curious shoppers were gathering round to view the very odd site. "I think they hired us to attract attention to the Kiosk," chuckled Kathy, "Number One Girl" at the Chamber.

Needless to point out, it was a site to behold -- the Kiosk certainly did come alive. Mr. Mustache was waving and blowing his antique whistles from London and truly enjoying his role. Said he's been a KOP since 1923 when some Hollywood movie people "pulled him in off the street." He showed me a news clipping from 1967 when he and the other KOPS made L. A. Police Chief Tom Reddin an honorary member of the Keystone KOPS. Other KOPS include Eddie Le Veque, Noble Kid Chissell, Consuelo de Catillo Bonzo and Peter J. Pritchess. Mr. Mustache, Frankie Esposito, said he'd be a Keystone KOP again if he had it to do over. He said he's performed in many parades and is available for entertainment of various sorts. Currently he patrols "Old Town" in Torrance as a member of the Special Police. He'll be on hand for the Good Old Days celebration in Upland June 15-16.

The photos were taken, the characters began dispersing... I went back into the Upland News office after noon... shortly after I peeked out the door at the Kiosk, which stood quietly empty and back to normal now, and I asked myself if I'd been dreaming.

New Services Offered At Upland Library

Under the administration of City Librarian Charles B. Kaufman emphasis is being placed on the library as a public facility. An assortment of the latest books, under the McNaughton Plan, is being supplied each month by the Friends of the Library. They also have given a 16 mm sound projector of library programs. Soon to be functioning is "Book Link", a service which takes books to shut-ins. Volunteers for this work may contact the librarian.

Another feature is story hours for pre-school children, scheduled on Tuesday and Wednesday, from 10:00 a.m. to 10:45 a.m., along with the "Mothers and Others Club".

Commission Postpones Ok On New Tract

Upland Planning Commissioners recently postponed making a decision on a request by Claraboya Construction Co. for a tentative tract map providing a layout for 23 tract homes on 24th St. until the June 28 meeting.

The tract involves condemnation proceedings approved by the City Council to allow an asphalt drainage and swale and underground sewage pipe through the property of Raymond Berry, 370 W. 24th St. If the planners approve the tract map -- the way is cleared for condemnation proceedings to begin.

City Attorney Donald Maroney advised the council to delay the legal action until an environmental hearing and tract map review was held on the subdivision planned for the area west of Berry's property.

At the meeting, Berry told the planners the sewer and drainage could be routed to the southwest corner of the Claraboya site. Berry and Roy Maupin, another member of the Upland Homeowners Association, used maps to illustrate their contention that the natural drainage flow off the Claraboya project does not flow primarily into the Berry property, as reported in an environmental questionnaire filed by the developer.

On June 28 the city engineer will report on the drainage pattern in the area. The commissioners felt the project "would not have a significant effect on the environment" and thus, didn't require the developer to prepare an environmental impact report.

Many homeowners in the area of the proposed development strongly disagreed. They contended the project would alter the rural-type atmosphere that has long existed in the 24th St. area. Urbanization of the area would affect the environment, and a report should be required, they argued.

Commissioners Jerry L. Morris and Donald Brownell agreed that a report should be prepared, but they were on the short end of a 4-2 vote.

OFF TO THE OLD DAYS -- A carload of characters from the Good Old Days stopped to pose beside the Upland Kiosk this week. VIP's riding in the vintage car include "Mr. Mustache" -- an official Keystone KOP and "Bee-Bee" -- a professional clown, along with dog expert Francis X. Lohmann and Margaret Wells of "Kanine Korner" syndicated news column.

lice Chief John Wessely, Upland is embarking on a new program aimed at "prevention, arrest and prosecution."

The program is being funded by a $6,237 federal grant administered through the California Council of Criminal Justice. The city's now obtaining bids for the special video-tape cameras, portable radios and other equipment which will be purchased with the grant funds, which must be spent by June 30.

Educating the public to burglary prevention and tactics used by burglars will be a major portion of the program that will begin sometime after all the equipment is obtained, Wessely said.

A major goal of the new anti-burglary program will be to convince residents to write down and report the license plate numbers of all suspicious vehicles. Another aspect of the prevention program will be to have conspicuously marked patrol cars patrolling areas with high burglary rates.

The city contributed $2,015, or one-fourth of the $8,056 that the police department will use for the new program.

In upcoming months, an unmarked police car will patrol city streets, randomly video taping vehicles parked in driveways. Back in the police station, members of the special burglar prevention task force will scan the tapes in search of vehicles appearing with unusual frequency. Also, when burglaries are reported, detectives can check their logs to learn if the camera-equipped patrol car was in the area during the time the burglary occurred.

Before a Gas Co. serviceman is ready to face you he has to face himself.

As a customer, you expect our servicemen to know what they're doing.

At the Gas Company, we expect more than that: we expect them to let you know that they know what they're doing.

So at our Customer Services Training Center, we now give our men the chance to see themselves as they really are.

On videotape. And if you've ever been surprised at the sound of your own voice on a tape recorder, you can imagine what it's like when there's a picture to go along with it.

The test is simple: an instructor acts like a customer, and a trainee acts like himself. Then the whole scene is played back on a screen.

For the trainee, that one picture on the screen is worth a thousand words from his instructor.

At the Gas Company, a man doesn't just learn how to handle your appliances.

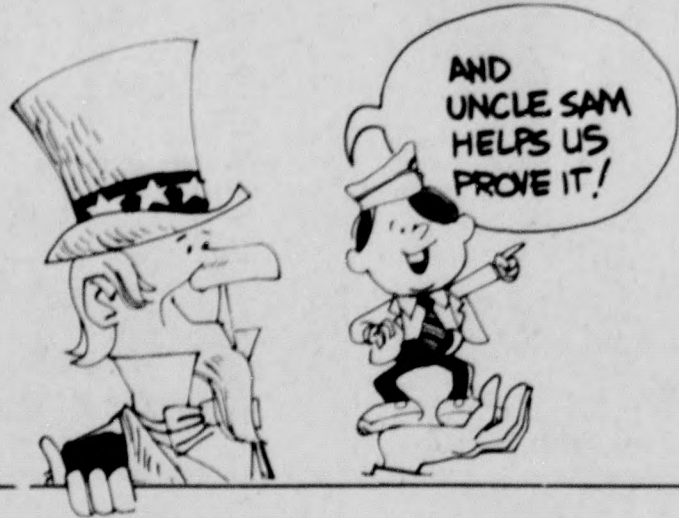

With videotape training, he also learns how to handle himself.

At Mayfair You save more on meat

A survey of other markets -- and Your Uncle Sam helps us prove it.

RETAIL MEAT PRICE COMPARISONS BASED ON U.S. DEPT. OF LABOR, BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS ITEM LIST, IN MAYFAIR DISCOUNT AND IN OTHER STORES, EFFECTIVE MAY 25 TO 29

Desert-Riverside area Competitor	Nb. of Items	Unit $ Total Mayfair	Competitor	Savings At Mayfair
Discount Chain A	18	21.80	22.10	.30
Discount Chain B	22	25.64	30.10	4.46
Discount Chain C	20	21.85	21.89	.04
Discount Chain D	21	23.92	25.03	1.11
Non-discount Chain E	12	14.21	15.02	.81

Last week we compared meat prices with other major super-markets in this area. Without exception, Mayfair's discount meat prices were the lowest overall of all markets surveyed.

To make these comparisons fair, we used Uncle Sam's list, the same items the U.S. Department of Labor uses to measure meat prices as part of the cost of living.

The results of this survey show that again last week, meat cost less at Mayfair.

Mrs. Gray Installed As Club President

Mrs. James Gray was recently installed as president of the Upland Junior Women's Club at a dinner program at Di Cenzo's Restaurant in Upland.

Mrs. Clyde Mackall of the club was installing officer, before handing her gavel to the new president, Mrs. Frank Gant, retiring president, presented a silver plate to Mrs. Bruce Nichols, the "Junior of the Year."

Mrs. Gray's theme for the year will be "Success comes in cans -- I can, you can, we can." Her colors will be blue and white.

Also installed were: the Mmes. Don Osmundson, first vicepresident; Robert Mattern, second vicepresident; David Troje, third vicepresident; Phillip Plotkin, recording secretary; Radford L. Gross, corresponding secretary; Jim Karlstrand, treasurer; Gant, parliamentarian; and Anneliese Sommer, press chairman.

Coordinator between the Upland Woman's Club and the Juniors will be Mrs. James Martins.

Mrs. Gant initiated three new members, Mrs. Gaylord Whipple, Mrs. Don Pederson and Mrs. Dan Tobias.

Mrs. Gant was presented with a silver tray by Mrs. William Zeise on behalf of the membership. Mrs. Gary Bales presented her with a scrapbook filled with records of all the club's projects over the past year.

Hundreds of members were guests at the dinner meeting.

Couple Plan July 1 Wedding

Miss Ann Louise Steward will become the bride of Robert Ogden in a July 1 wedding ceremony.

Announcing Miss Steward's engagement are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Steward A. Steward, of La Verne.

A 1971 graduate of Bonita High School, the bride-to-be is employed as hostess-cashier at Bob's Big Boy Restaurant in Pomona.

The son of Mr. Robert E. Ogden, of Upland, and Mrs. David O. Brownell of Chino, the groom-to-be is currently employed as a machine operator at Industrial Brush Co., Pomona.

Ann Louise Steward

Corrigan-Ellingson United In Marriage

Miss Mary Jean Corrigan became the bride of Abel Ronald Ellingson in a double ring ceremony, May 5 at Mt. Baldy Village Church.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Corrigan, Alta Loma, wore a high necked, long sleeve white chiffon dress overlaid with lace.

The groom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. A. R. Ellingson, Alta Loma.

Mrs. Nancy Thounenell, Upland, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Patty Thounenell and Beth Thounenell.

Susan Corrigan was junior bridesmaid and Lynn Ellingson, flower girl.

John Cooper served as best man. John Corrigan, John Ellingson, Ole Ellingson and Jim Ellingson were ushers.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents.

The bridegroom is in the armed services and will be stationed in Colorado Springs, Colo., where the couple will make their home.

L.W.V. Opposes Two Income Tax Refunds

The League of Women Voters of California will oppose both income tax refunds and a Constitutional limitation on tax rates, according to Mrs. John Nicholson, president of the West San Bernardino County League.

"We believe the estimated $850 million state surplus should be used to maintain adequate funding for services such as child care and compensatory education if Federal funds are drastically affected as the Federal budget proposes," Mrs. Nicholson said. The League will support legislation designed to maintain programs the League has supported in the past, the State Board decided.

The use of a portion of the state surplus to fund capital outlays, such as acquisition of coastline property, will also be a high priority in the League's legislative program.

"For many years we opposed Constitutional limitations on tax rates and expenditures," the local league president stated.

"Changes in the economy create surpluses or deficits, League members believe the Legislature and the Governor should be able to adjust tax rates and expenditures accordingly, without the lengthy process of Constitutional amendment."

ALTA LOMA JUNIORS

Mrs. Cox Is New President

Mrs. Karl Cox was installed as president of the Cucamonga-Alta Loma Junior Women's Club recently at a banquet held on Ontario's Holiday Inn.

Mrs. Charles Youngstrom was selected by her fellow club members as the "Junior of the Year."

Special guests were: Mrs. Cox's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Diess and the husbands of club members. Mrs. Boyd is president of the San Bernardino District, and Mrs. Diess is first vice president of the district.

Mrs. Diess was the installing officer and she installed the following: Mmes. Terry Switzer, first vice president; Michael Casler, second vice president; David Trask, third vice president; Douglas Lundberg, recording secretary; Gordon Roberts, treasurer; Robert Short, membership chairman; Jerry Sibley, publicity; Rod Rogers, bulletin; Bill Ritchie, parliamentarian; A. E. Lewis, coordinator; Roger Scilley, corresponding secretary; and Gary Goal, Juniorette adviser.

Mrs. Lee Malouff, as past president, will serve on the executive board.

Mrs. Cox has selected "Happiness is Participation" as her theme for the year. Her colors will be green, yellow and orange, and the daisy will be her flower.

Mrs. Youngstrom served the club during the past year as first vice president which included the duties of dean of chairmen. She was build a better community chairman, chairman-at-large, March of Dimes director, Easter Seal area director and organized a card party and luncheon.

Mrs. Youngstrom also represented the club in the "Junior Citizens of the Year" competition on the district level.

This past year was her second term as first vice president. She served as San Bernardino District health chairman and for the coming year will be the district's build a better community chairman.

Mrs. Cox appointed the following chairmen: Mmes. Ken Brooks, Americanism; Mikel Park, build a better community; Trask, conservation; Malouff, education; Philip Spencer, fine arts; Youngstrom, health; David Vickery, mental health; John Neltz, international affairs; Short, safety; and Gary Boal, youth.

We're not giving away iguanas this week.

I is for iguana.

Many species of iguana are found from Mexico to South America. Some of these lizards may reach a length of 5 or 6 feet, including the long, thin tail. Color ranges from shades of green through beautiful yellows and oranges to a dull brown or gray. Iguanas are both excellent climbers and good swimmers, and spend much time in trees. Although they have a fearsome look, these animals' diet consists largely of leaves and fruit, with insects and carrion comprising a smaller portion.

Our gift to you is service.

At Ontario Savings, serving you is our business—we take it very seriously because we feel close to you. As a locally owned company, our first concern is for our neighbors and for our community. This means, savings are re-invested as home loans right here in the vicinity.

Come in for a visit. We'd like to meet you and show you around. We think you'll find our tellers the best and the friendliest. We hope you'll like what you see. Then, when it's time for you to choose or change the place you put your savings, you'll think of us. And if you bring us your savings book we'll handle the transfer with no embarrassment at all to you.

We think you're special. If we go out of our way to make things easier for you, that's just as it should be.

When a Quaker Lady quelled a Riot

An anti-slavery meeting in the State Capitol of Vermont in 1835 was broken up by a ruffianly rabble who became so violent that it was unsafe for the principal speaker, Rev. Samuel J. May of Boston, to leave the building. A Quaker lady quietly stepped forward and, taking his arm, guided him safely through the mob which, history recounts, "had the decency to respect a lady and her escort."

This kind of "quiet courage" in a confrontation is one of the things that made this country GREAT!

Steagall, Tillotson Star At Knott's Farm

The gap will be bridged from country to rock to pop music this weekend as Knott's Berry Farm features Red Steagall, Johnny Tillotson and The Messengers in the John Wayne Theatre.

The Messengers star Friday, June 8, while the Red Steagall Show featuring Billy Armstrong and Andra Willis headline the marquee Saturday.

The rock-to-country sound of Tillotson will be heard Sunday, June 10.

Swinging to a soft rock beat, singing of love, faith and joy, 18 young people from Memphis, Tenn., The Messengers, are capturing audiences all across the nation.

Friday's stars, who range in age from 16 to 20, are official goodwill ambassadors for the State of Tennessee and for the City of Memphis. Their tour is sponsored as a public service by Holiday Inns. The group's songs often reflect strong patriotic and religious feelings, presented in a soft rock or folk beat.

The Messengers provide their own accompaniment with guitar, bass, organ, drums, and assorted rhythm instruments.

They will perform Friday evening, June 8 at 7 and 8:30 p.m., and again Saturday, June 9, at 1 and 2:30 p.m. in Knott's John Wayne Theatre.

From a soil chemical engineer in Texas to a nationwide country music star seems like an improbable trip, but Red Steagall, Saturday's featured headliner, has successfully traveled the distance. Although he majored in agriculture at West Texas University, Steagall was always playing the guitar, singing and writing songs. When his songs were recorded by such people as Glen Campbell, Bobby Goldsboro, Jeannie C. Riley and Dean Martin, Steagall knew that his life was in music. But the transformation was quite easy for Steagall. His songs reflect the feeling of "every man" -- the earthy quality of joy and suffering as an integral part of daily living.

Appearing with Steagall will be Billy Armstrong, one of the greatest names in country fiddle playing, and vocalist Andra Willis.

The Red Steagall Show is set for 5:30, 7:30 and 9:30 p.m.

Sunday's star, Johnny Tillotson, is one of a handful of young singers who have successfully made the transition from teenage rock idol to a favorite of the sophisticated adult audience. And yet he is still considered a favorite among both groups.

A boyhood radio performer, young Johnny made his first recording which he was still attending college in Jacksonville, Fla. The song, "Poetry In Motion," became one of the biggest hits of 1959 and his career was paved with gold. He continued to belt out hit after hit for the next five years, with gold records earned for "It Keeps Right On A Hurtin'" and "Send Me the Pillow That you Dream on."

But in 1966, Tillotson decided he would pursue another musical direction. He turned to a blending of pop and country, which he calls "town and country" and with it he has toured the top supper clubs around the country.

Singer, composer, tv host and actor Johnny Tillotson appears in three shows at Knott's Sunday, June 10 at 2, 4 and 6 p.m.

Square dancing continues every Friday night in Knott's Wagon Camp. The caller this Friday evening, June 8, is Kenny Hare.

Knott's Berry Farm is located on Beach Blvd. in Buena Park, just two miles south of the Santa Ana Freeway.

That old dog of a director Fred Zinnemann has mastered an impressive repertoire of new tricks, and he displays them dazzlingly in his first film in five years. The Day of the Jackal (Universal) is, of course, an adaptation of that best-selling thriller by British journalist Frederick Forsyth, which told in fascinating detail of a contract assassin's attempt on the life of Charles de Gaulle.

In style and tone, the film is as different as can be from such earlier Zinnemann movies as The Men, High Noon, From Here to Eternity, and his last, A Man for All Seasons. Zinnemann's oeuvre is certainly impressive enough, but it suggests a film maker who has been a bit timid before the spoken word. He always had it in him, however. What was good in High Noon, for instance, came from Zinnemann's cross-cutting, his expression of the relentless movement of time.

By contrast, The Day of the Jackal is as pure a piece of visual storytelling as any director has accomplished since those young Robespierres pulled off their biffo-zowie revolution in film making back in the late 1960s. Imagine a picture of about 2 hours and 20 minutes' duration with no more than 2,000 words of dialog--about as many as are in a very short story. The result is a lean, taut action film that develops with the same relentlessness as High Noon, yet without the Western's ponderous talkiness.

The assassin is hired by the OAS to kill de Gaulle after one attempt has failed. What do we know of him? Practically nothing, as it turns out. He is simply presented as he is in the person of English actor James Fox--blond 30ish, rather urbane, and known simply by the code name Jackal. As the film follows him in his preparations for the assassination attempt, he remains tight-lipped, yet the specifics of his plan gradually come clear. Throughout these earlier sequences, the reticent quality of the script emphasizes his isolation.

But the French government has gotten wind of the plot, and through luck and good police work by Scotland Yard, the investigators come upon one of the names under which the Jackal is operating. The search for him begins, and it soon develops as a kind of personal duel between the Jackal and the French detective directing the operation--a physically unimpressive sort, almost a bumbler, played appealingly by Michel Lonsdale. Needless to say, the two go right down to the wire, and in the suspenseful climax de Gaulle's life is laid right on the line as the familiar profile is caught in the cross-hairs of the Jackal's telescope sight.

One is left with the question of just what such a film is worth when compared to Zinnemann's earlier work. There can be no doubt, for instance, that A Man for All Seasons is of much greater weight, is more of an aesthetic experience than a thriller like this one. Nevertheless, in The Day of the Jackal Fred Zinnemann has used the resources of the medium much more fully than he has ever before. The result may not be great art--there are limits, after all to what even a friendly critic will claim for a film of this kind--but it is certainly what good pure movie making is all about.

AWKWARD as it so often is, Hitler: The Last Ten Days (Paramount) does have some value as a documentary of the Nazi dictator sequestered in his bunker headquarters while the ring of encirclement closed tighter and tighter around Berlin. At its worst it is ludicrous, and at its best--that is, in Alec Guinness' performance as Hitler--it is convincing.

Beach Plums--For Cooking, Crafts

Tart Little Seacoast Fruits Have Eluded Practical Use; Now There's A Guide

Beach plums, tart little fruits that grow wild along the Atlantic coast, have intrigued summer vacationers for ages. Information about them has been scanty, except for a few recipes handed down from mother to daughter in old seacoast families.

Now at last, there's a whole book on the subject, Plum Crazy (Clarkson N. Potter, Pub., $5.95). Not only does it tell you how to find, store, and use the beach plums, but also lists more than 70 recipes through fish and meat, from appetizer to dessert and beverages.

Less known about the beach plums is their adaptability to creative crafts such as cosmetic-making and wool-dyeing. The author, Elizabeth Mirel, charmingly provides instructions for these and also describes how to use the blossoms of beach plums for flower arrangements, the branches for wood carvings, and the plants for propagating. Evidently they can be grown in any place with sandy soil and sunshine.

Elizabeth Mirel has gleaned her knowledge from many summers on Martha's Vineyard. She is a freelance journalist on scientific subjects.

With its colorful cover and whimsical sketches by Betty Frazer, the book is sure to be a favorite this summer with seacoast vacationers.

Cooking for only two has its special problems, but there are also interesting advantages, well pointed out in the Betty Crocker's Dinner for Two book (Golden Press, $3.95).

More than 85 full-color photographs illustrate the cookbook with ideas for garnishes, table settings, centerpieces and decorations, and serving suggestions. New brides and beginning cooks will find the "Basic Know-How" chapter on shopping, storing, and kitchen coping an aide in becoming skilled cooks.

The book tells how to tackle the "two-only" problems. To start with all the recipes are just the right size; so you know exactly how much to buy. There are meals for rush time, for tight-money times, and for planning-ahead parties.

Special cooking hints and new ideas for efficiency as well as a whole batch of new dishes are fitted into comfortable, easy menus with much the same convenience as in all the other Betty Crocker cookbooks.

Richard Condon, author of Vertical Smile, "The Manchurian Candidate," and several other novels, went to Mexico to live a few years ago when he was writing "A Talent for Loving."

He was particularly attracted to the food, as was his daughter Wendy Bennett, who developed the cooking expertise for a book titled The Mexican Stove. What to Put On It and In It, with words by Richard Condon and food by Wendy Bennett (Doubleday, $6.95).

Combining practical advice with easy-to-follow directions and a generous amount of wit, the book includes sensible hints for Mexican food preparation such as three ways to peel tomatoes, how to prepare Mexican green tomatoes, green peppers, dried chilies, and sesame seeds.

Other hints tell how to judge when lard is ready for frying and what to use as substitutes for dried chilies.

When it comes to regional Mexican dishes, Mr. Condon tells of the speciality of the Mayans of Yucatan called panuchos, which is made with black beans, eggs, chicken breasts, and 13 other ingredients, and also a 16,000-year-old recipe for suckling pig. Called cochinita pibil, it's a dish for the young man who wants to take his girl home to meet his family.

Mexico has a long honor roll of regional dishes around and throughout which one should wait, spin, and rotate because their contrast is rich and dimensional, says the Condons' book.

Some of the recipes are Fish in Hazelnut Sauce, Fish in Almond and Walnut Sauce, Shrimp in Green Pumpkin Sauce, and Lentils with Pork.

There are at least 100 recipes in The Great Little Hotdog Cookbook by John A. Gould (Doubleday, $3.95). "The most nearly universal item in American refrigerators is a package of hot dogs," says the author.

As art critic of the New York Times, John Canaday was accustomed to finding "hate" letters in his mailbox, until he wrote an article on avocados.

His story was not about avocado preparation for the table, but how to germinate the pit.

The resulting mail, indicating the importance attached to avocado culture, was so staggering that Mr. Canaday's article, "My Wife, My Avocado, and Me," now is the beginning of a complete book on the subject, The Artful Avocado (Doubleday, $3.95).

From 'A' For Anise To 'V' (Vanilla) 26 Herbs Are Rated Staples catching format is further enlivened with charming illustrations of the herbs by Robin Rothman.

A GUACAMOLE RECIPE

Although the book, with clear and clever sketches, is devoted mostly to the potting and reporting, cutting back, and different ways of germinating the avocado seed, it does include a recipe for guacamole. It is from an author of a cookbook on Mexican foods, Diana Kennedy. She occasionally begs avocado leaves from Mr. Canaday, to toast and crush in certain dishes. Giving Mrs. Kennedy the title of "the Mexican Escoffier," the author also adds some variations on guacamole, the vague credit to Craig Claiborne, and also mentions some of his favorite ways of eating the fruit, including smothering the half avocado in a chilled sauce of cucumber and yogurt and eating it from the shell for breakfast.

An attractive, oversized paperback cheers the reinstatement of herbs as important ingredients in modern-day cooking in the United States, and sends the reader scurrying to the herb rack.

Titled Let Herbs Do It, by Virginia Williams Bentley (Houghton Mifflin, Boston, $3.95) it has a long subtitle: "A collection of anecdotes and cooking suggestions to enliven the use of 26 herbs which should be staples in every kitchen."

Mrs. Bentley confesses to adding a few seasonings and spices, not actually classified as herbs, in this list.

From A for anise to V (vanilla), the author introduces each herb with tidbits of history and folklore following with recipes highlighted.

FROM LOCAL COLLEGE

Racing Team Takes On Baja 500

La Verne-Montclair Teams Win In Baseball Action

In local American Legion League baseball contests over the weekend, La Verne Post 330 and Montclair Post 616 came out winners.

La Verne smashed La Puente Connie Mack 7-3, and Montclair beat Yucaipa Post 426, 6-4.

Combining for a three hitter for La Verne were pitchers Brian Ranney, through seven innings, and Paul Willman. Leading the hitting attack were Mark Bumstead, with two hits, and Al Acosta, with two RBI's.

La Puente started the scoring in the second when Mike Gertsner slammed one barely over the left field fence. La Verne evened the score to one-up in the same inning when Harold Drake sacrificed with a fly ball to center with bases loaded to score Steve Hines.

In the fourth, Carl Davis singled home Hines for another. La Puente scored two in the fifth, only to have La Verne come back with three more. La Puente went ahead 3-2 in the fifth. In the bottom of the same inning, La Puente walked over a run, and Acosta singled to drive in two with the bases loaded.

The rest of the scoring was done by Jim Richards of La Verne, when he powered a two-run home run out of the park in the eighth.

La Verne now has a record of 6-4. Next game is set for tonight at La Verne College at 5:30 p.m. Their opponent is the Claremont Connie Mack.

In the Montclair-Yucaipa game Montclair out hit their opponents 12-5.

Yucaipa scored two in the first, one in the fifth and one in the ninth, but it just wasn't enough to handle Montclair, who allowed only five hits and scored two in the first, one in the third, one in the sixth and two in the eighth to win the game.

The five-hit pitchers for Montclair were Mike Medeiros and Bruce Richardson.

Montclair's records as of this game is 4-1.

The Montclair team has a game tonight with Ontario Post 112 at John Galvin Park. Game time is 7 p.m.

The Chaffey College Racing Association has set another date with destiny, a second try at the Baja 500, June 7-8 out of Ensenada.

As in the ill-fated attempt last year, the same car will be used, only in better shape, hopefully, and tooled by the same drivers, though more seasoned.

The car will be an American Motors S.C. Rambler with a new 390 engine. The drivers are Chaffey auto tech instructor Kent Kisk and Ontario Don Johnson. The racer will be powered again by propane in Chaffey's crusade for clean air.

Chaffey's experience in the 1972 Baja was not the best. Fisk and Johnson got the college entry 125 miles into the 500 when their mount spun a rod bearing and the engine "self-destructed." That's the explanation for a new engine, courtesy of American Motors, Chaffey College race car tech instructor Sam Contino arranged for the replacement.

Drivers Fisk and Johnson will have another factor going for them, a reconnaissance of the tortuous, grueling 500 mile course in the Baja Bug. Students of Contino and Fisk are preparing the off-road VW for a leisurely pre-run of the terrain, beginning Memorial Day.

Our Baja Bug will have that course charted for the Rambler right down to the steer skulls and empty Carta Blanca bottles," said Contino. "This time, we'll make it," he affirmed.

Contino will be directing Chaffey's part in the Baja operation from an airconditioned highway cruiser on loan from Commander Motor Homes.

Other gifts for the Baja via Contino are from West End firms, Duxol LPG (Propane), Winston Tire Co. ($400 and off-road tires) and Wilson Brothers (line boring and crankshaft service). Millodon Engineering of Van Nuys donated a special pressure lube system and oil pans for the Chaffey mission.

Six students will make up the Baja pit team. They are Terry King and Victor Mahan, Ontario; Robert Nye and Frank Prentiss, Upland; Dale Matzel, Cucamonga and Richard Stubbe from Fontana.

The three additional students helping to prepare by the Rambler and the bug are Bryce Baker, Cucamonga; Glenn Ikeda, Upland and Donald Tiney, Ontario.

Little League Spring Fest Set, June 9

The Montclair Central Little League will sponsor a spring carnival Saturday, June 9, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at John F. Kennedy Memorial Park, Arrow Hwy. and Monte Vista Ave.

Game booths will be operated by team mothers and fathers; various prizes are available. The snack bar will be open for hot dogs, hamburgers and hot drinks. Home baked goods will be sold from a special bakery shop booth.

The carnival chairwomen is Mrs. Fern Lacher. Her committee includes Mrs. Rose Yaros (ladies auxiliary chairman), Mrs. Marilyn Calhoun, Mrs. Pat Brown, Mrs. Janice Rovido, Mrs. Val Smith, Mrs. Lorrie Lott and Mrs. Annette Ballinger (publicity).

Jobs Offered By Goodwill

During the summer vacation months, Goodwill Industries of Southern California will cooperate with the Neighborhood Youth Corps in providing work experience training for 28 school girls and boys 14 to 18 years of age. Elaine Gordon, Goodwill's Director of Rehabilitation Services, announced that this special program will begin in late June.

Most of the youngsters selected for participation in this program at Goodwill are physically disabled. At Goodwill, Mrs. Gordon pointed out, they will be given the opportunity to experience a working environment, to accomplish a work task, and to earn some money for their efforts as productive citizens of the community.

The Neighborhood Youth Corps is a city program, created in 1964 with the purpose of giving youngsters a chance away from the boredom of the streets. Non-profit Goodwill Industries has cooperated with this summer program for youth since 1966.

Mrs. Gordon said that an individual assessment will be made with each NYC candidate in an effort to create work that will be interesting as well as appropriate and educational. Last year, students were exposed to duties related to cafeteria services; shoe and furniture repair; PBX switchboard operation and telephone answering; and simple clerical, sales and maintenance services. Additional information about registration procedures and fees is available by contacting the Office of Continuing Education (714) 870-2611 or visiting the office in Room 809 of the Administration Building. Classes are scheduled to begin virtually a weekly basis throughout the summer, beginning on June 18.

SINCE 1924

Is A Desert Landscape Dreary? Is New Year Silent?

While taking a leisurely drive across a stretch of desert northwest of here the other day, an incident that took place aboard a train in Switzerland many years ago flashed into memory.

When a compartment companion mentioned having traveled extensively in Africa, innocently asked him if the silence of the jungle ever became unbearable.

Well, our efficient little electric engine could have pulled us up the side of the mightiest Alp before that man stopped laughing. The jungle, as any fool knows, is about as silent as Times Square on New Year's Eve or the clubhouse of the World Series winner.

SANDY SOLITUDE

What caused this memory to come back was my growing familiarity with the desert. It suddenly occurred that should we thoughtlessly ask an old prospector how he had learned to live with the monotonous desolation and barrenness of sandy wastes, he very likely would laugh himself into the nearest chuckhole and out the other end.

A desert traveler's world, you know, isn't barren at all. It is carpeted with some of the most varied, most interesting and most beautiful vegetation on earth. You just have to know where and when to look for it.

It took a transplanted Easterner a while to catch on. But progress is now evident and every step of the way is exciting and rewarding.

For example, nowhere else can you find the stately saguaro cactus, believed to live for 150 to 200 years. It thrives in the desert land because, like the camel, it can store water—enough to feed itself through several years of drought without sacrificing its annual blossoming and fruiting.

Tall and stark, the saguaro's often candelabra-like appearance is unique, producing a white, waxy blossom from May to July. It is Arizona's state flower. Its fruit is strawberry red and makes a delicious preserve.

The organ pipe cactus, next to the saguaro in size, bears a large, sweet fruit that is much prized by the Indians.

There also are the sinita or "old man" cactus, with its grayish, hairlike filaments at the top; the barrel or compass cactus, which usually tilts toward the south, contains water for the thirsty wanderer and is the basis for Cactus candy, a confection favorite throughout the Southwest.

One of the most beautiful desert growths is the century plant or "mesquite." Though its leathery leaves and hooked thorns grow close to the ground, it pushes upward from the center in the spring, often attaining a height of 30 feet. Its clusters of yellow blossoms produce edible seeds.

The abundant and ordinary looking mesquite is actually quite remarkable. It bears edible beans, sometimes in two or three crops a year, is good burning firewood, and can be used by ranchers to make fence posts. The Indians feed themselves and their livestock with the beans.

If you look off into the distance while crossing the desert and think you see smoke rising from a campfire, you might be seeing instead the desert's only true ghost, the smoke tree. By moonlight its appearance is almost unreal. In the spring it bears beautiful blue flowers.

The palo verde, another abundant growth, becomes a mass of yellow blossoms and can go for many months without water.

One of the most luxurious desert landmarks is the ironwood tree. It often soars 30 feet into the sky and can be almost as large at the base. The heartwood tree bears lavender buds and small pods of edible beans. The elephant tree, mostly found among rocks, has a trunk that looks much like the foot of the animal it is named after, and produces bark and leaves that are highly aromatic.

The desert yucca, which comes in many varieties, produces a white, bell-like flower on a long stem. The tall Joshua tree and the small soapweed are in the yucca family. The fruits and seeds are eaten by the Indians, and the roots can be substituted for soap.

The ocotillo, with its whip-like stems bears a brilliant red blossom on its branch tips and is one of the desert's more plentiful neighbors.

Of course, only the innocent rush in to make friends with these desert natives, for almost every tree, bush and shrub is covered with thorns as protection, many of which will penetrate a heavy leather boot or thick rubber-soled shoe.

This must be desert nature's way of saying: "Slow down, partner. What's the hurry?"

Marigolds: Color In The Summer Garden

Pardon the expression, but June is bustin' out all over—and if you haven't done anything about color for the summer garden, this should serve as an urgent reminder to get with it.

Nurseries have bedding plants, right now, which will fill bare spots and provide a riot of color throughout the garden—throughout the warm season ahead.

A prime source of summer color lies in the vast number of annual flowers, available in nursery flats; many are to be found already showing color in larger sizes of nursery containers. This means instant beauty—wherever you want it. The smaller transplants, from flats, will be ablaze with color in a matter of a few weeks.

For adding immediate garden color to edgings or borders, Dwarf Marigolds are an answer. There are to be found blooming in nurseries in brilliant shades of gold, yellow, orange, and even bicolors of mahogany and orange or gold. The in-between sizes of Marigolds and the taller varieties will provide plenteous summer color, too. The various sizes create many opportunities for use in a variety of landscape situations. This is true, too, of Zinnias which offer tempting colors in pink, red, cherry, and warmer hues. Dwarf Dahlias also offer a bright mixture of colors for the summer garden; the flowers are excellent for cutting for indoor arrangements.

Salvia offers intense red blooms for sunny sites; the unique blooms—and fiery red and gold colors—of Cockscomb add interest and beauty to their surrounding.

Periwinkle (Vinca) is a favorite bedding plant for summertime—the rugged individualists never seem to stop blooming. There are several varieties—in lavender, pink and white, some of which are distinctively marked with a bright red eye.

There are willing candidates to provide blooms in blue, lavender, violet and purple: Ageratum, Alyssum and Lobelia, to name but three.

The big Petunia family offers shades of almost every color. Shopping undoubtedly will reveal a color that fills your exact desires, enthralls the California Association of Nurserymen.

Ferns Earned Fame

Ferns lend a special enchantment to the garden and offer a four-season delight. Their fame is deserved -- and earned. Shopping for ferns is a fun thing to do. Use them for a cool east or north entryway or create a touch of tropics on the patio. Grown in containers, they become decorative garden accessories.

Azaleas—Versatile And Lovely

Azaleas are among the most popular landscape shrubs in California. There are evergreen varieties for the micro-climates throughout the state—including the hot interior valleys -- which dispose of the theory that prolific blooming Azaleas only grow in coastal gardens.

Besides being climatically adaptable, Azaleas are also versatile landscape choices. The medium - growing shrubs are ideal choices for the shade green. The spreading growth habit and lush, textured foliage create a handsome effect and blend nicely with other shrubs.

On top of this, consider the heavy flower production, and the lasting quality of the blooms, and you get an idea why Azaleas are a favorite with gardeners in the Golden State. Certain varieties start blooming in Fall and others continue into early summer. These fall into at least nine categories which vary in hardiness and ability to withstand heat and cold. Nurseries offer those best for local conditions. Right now, you'll find a big selection in full bloom. Shopping for Azaleas while they are in flower permits you to see the shape of the flower and the shade of color.

Speaking of colors, Azaleas bloom in shades of rose, pink, red, coppery-pink white, salmon, ruby, orchid, violet red and many others—including bicolors and combinations of colors, advises the California Association of Nurserymen.

Azaleas needn't be confined to the shade garden. In some climates, the so-called Sun Azaleas (Southern Indicas) will take sunnier exposures. The best approach is to check with your nurseryman how much sun is advisable.

Many nurseries will have Azaleas for hanging baskets, and others trained as patio trees. Azaleas are excellent for growing in tubs and distinctive containers.

Chief consideration in growing Azaleas is to provide good drainage for the plants. Many hobbyists prefer planting them in pure peat moss; there are specially-formulated planter mixes for acid-loving plants such as Azaleas. Using generous amounts will enhance the drainage and promote sturdy growth and beauty.

There is nothing shy about Hydrangeas. They are, beyond a doubt, the boldest, showiest, and heaviest bloomers.

This wasn't always the case. Longtime gardeners may remember when Hydrangeas were a rangy sort, and less interesting shrubs. Their blooms had size, but lacked oomph and were less than spectacular. Luckily, the French supplied the oomph.

It was in France, decades ago, that these color bearers started through the hybridizing mill from which new spectacular varieties have been emerging ever since. Today's Hydrangea is more compact, a better mixer in the garden and as colorful as any landscape shrub could be, says the California Association of Nurserymen.

Planted now, the Hydrangea can be relied upon for summer color in years to come. It should be given partial shade at least, the amount increasing as you garden away from the coast. Hydrangeas like plenty of summer water and a rich, well-drained soil. This can be achieved by incorporating organic materials -- peat moss, leafmold, wood bark products, etc.--in the soil as you plant the shrubs. Nurseries have special ready-to-use planter mixes. Blue flowered Hydrangeas are the result of acid soils, so consider this when planting.

The list of named varieties is long. There are shades of pink, suggestions of reds, orchids and blues -- as well as white Hydrangeas. Best bet is to visit your local nursery and choose a favorite by sight. Many are to be found in bloom now--or will be in flower in the coming weeks--ready to live-up your garden from the outset.

Some gardeners are inclined to shear Hydrangeas back each year as a hedge. The result is a tight mass of foliage and a host of smaller flowers. A recommended practice would be to head back the canes to different lengths during each dormant season and remove some canes entirely, to open up the shrubs. Blooms will be larger and the growth habit much more interesting.

With summer rapidly approaching, and bare spots beginning to show in the garden, now is the time for a quick color transfusion.

The logical transfusion comes in the form of summer-flowering annuals. Set-out now, they will start to brighten their surroundings in a matter of just a few weeks. Some annuals, which are available as small transplants in nursery flats, will start showing color almost from the start.

Late May is a good time to still plant Marigolds. If you haven't shopped for these willing performers lately, you'll be thrilled with all the possibilities. There are dwarfs for edging purposes, intermediate growers for flower beds and borders and taller varieties to feature in background situations. Colors include intense shades of yellow, cream, gold, persimmon -- and even bronzy and mahogany tones in bi-colored Marigolds. If this isn't enough, flowers range in size from the daintiest fluffs to four-inch blooms, reports the California Association of Nurserymen.

Zinnias like a sunny place in the summer garden. The taller varieties come in mixed colors for a sensational display. The small-growing type and dwarfs are available in separate colors; this enables you to create lovely settings in borders and planters --for up-close enjoyment.

Other sun-lovers include the Periwinkles--sold as Vinca, with names such as Little Pinky, Bright Eyes and Blanche. They are especially popular for sunny flower beds in the hot interior valleys.

Dwarf Dahlias and Asters are fixtures in many summer gardens in the Golden State, both for display and for cutting flowers for indoor arrangements.

Gardener's Checklist

1. Many summer-flowering shrubs are available now in nursery containers: Lantana, Hibiscus, Oleander, Fuchsia, Abelia--to name just a few.
2. Annual flowers provide quick color in the summer garden. For starters, try Marigolds, Zinnias, Periwinkle (Vinca), Dwarf Dahlias, Lobelia, and Zinnias.
3. Dwarf Citrus makes excellent tub plants for the sunny porch or patio. Here are plants that look good all year. As a bonus, they provide blooms which fill the air with fragrance--and delicious fruits.
4. Snails are year-round visitors in California gardens and should be greeted with bait or pellets.

SUMMER FLOWERS -- Hurry to plant annual flowers, which will add sparkle to the summer garden. There are many quick-blooming annuals to choose from at your local nursery, including marigolds which are ideal for edgings or mass plantings. The intermediate-growing Gay Ladies Marigolds, pictured here, are effective and colorful as a border planting.

Summer School Signups Set

All junior and senior high schools in Pomona are currently accepting registrations for the Pomona Unified School District's secondary summer school program, which begins on Tuesday, June 19.

According to Dr. Gene Brophy, summer school principal, classes will be held on weekday mornings through August 3, with a holiday on July 4. Some driver education courses and music performance groups meet in the afternoon, Dr. Brophy said, and driver training will be taught all day and Saturdays throughout the summer.

Junior high school classes are open to students who have completed the sixth through eighth grades. Students who have completed ninth grade and above attend the summer school program at the high schools.

Private and parochial school students who live within the boundaries of the Pomona Unified School District may attend the District's summer school program.

Courses are offered according to demand, Dr. Brophy pointed out, and not all courses are available at all schools. Junior high school course offerings include arts and crafts, arithmetic, pre-algebra, geography, U.S. history, world history, homemaking, music, physical education, reading, science, shop and typing.

Courses offered at the senior high school level are arts and crafts, biology, cosmetology, drama, driver education, driver training, English, government, U.S. history, homemaking, mathematics, music, physical education, psychology, reading, shop and typing.

Charles Fleenor, Park Avenue High School principal, will supervise the summer school program at that location. Serving as assistant principals for the summer school program at that location are Leon Geroche, Ganesha High; Marge Quane, Garey High; Jan Button, Pomona High; Frank Sowin, Emerson Junior High; Mel Banks, Fremont Junior High; Catherine Chamberlain, Lorbeer Junior High; Eugene Bynum, Marshall Junior High; Tony De La Paz, Palomares Junior High; and Jack Smith, Simons Junior High.

Of particular interest to adults are offerings of the Adult Education Department. Visit the office at 800 S. Garey and review their schedule, which even includes a beginning organ class.

It's Your Money

Q: We've been holding off buying a color TV set until the novelty of color wears off and technology brings it down to a price we can afford. Do you think prices have bottomed out?

A: Yes, judging by the past few years, the price of color TV isn't going to be reduced much more. This year, for example, there is little or no price change over last year's comparable models. Manufacturers seem to be more concerned now with improving the product than in cutting prices. As you undoubtedly are aware, color sets are more expensive to buy and more costly to repair than black and white sets. But the increased use of solid state circuitry is prolonging the life of components and tubes, and the extended warranty is helping protect the consumer's pocketbook.

Q: Are what are commonly called "loss leader" items in stores really a bargain?

A: A "loss leader" is usually a well advertised, quality item which sells at a very low cost -- often at little or no markup from wholesale price. Its purpose is not to make a profit for the store, but to attract customers to the store in the hope they will buy other goods while there. If the "loss leader" is something you need or can use, it is well worth buying.

Workshop On Media Presented July 9-20

A unique Workshop on Media Communications in Church, Education and Community will be held at the School of Theology at Claremont July 9-20. The workshop is open to ministers, church workers and laymen of all denominations. Participants may enroll in one of three areas of concentration — Media Development, Radio and Cable TV Use and Production.

Educators Fellowship. For information, write Office of Admissions, School of Theology at Claremont, 91711.

A Camp For Girls Is Available

A camp exclusively for senior high school girls in Southern California is being offered July 7 through 14 at Camp Ocoela, high in the San Bernardino Mountains.

"Many girls in this age group believe they have graduated from camping," stated Susan Combs, Camp Director, "yet they are the same girls who complain that there is nothing for them to do in the summer. This innovative camp is a new venture in directing to older girls a creative program that will have emphasis on developing hobbies, avocations and interests to keep girls busy in a constructive and creative manner and will also present opportunities for possible careers and income. Our camp has the freedom and flexibility that is especially suited for girls entering the 9th grade in the fall through the 12th grade," she concluded.

This program is offered at beautiful Camp Ocoela where horseback riding, swimming, crafts and backpacking are all included in the one fee. There will be interest groups in careers for women, in developing unique and individualized hobbies and art forms, in consciousness raising techniques and in women's roles in a changing society. A brain-storming group hopes to come up with 100 ideas for what to do on weekends when you don't have a date.

The Orange Y.W.C.A. also offers a week of mountain camp for girls entering 4th through 8th grades. This will be at Camp Cedar Lake, 1000 feet above Big Bear from Aug. 7-14.

Cost, including insurance and transportation for both camps is $50. Some part camperships are available and there is the opportunity to sell candy at a 65 percent profit to earn the cost of camp. Registration forms and more information may be obtained by writing the Orange Y.W.C.A., 146 N. Grand St., Orange 92666, (714) 633-4950.

Memorial Chapel To Be Dedicated Here

Dedication ceremonies for the new Kresge Memorial chapel at the School of Theology at Claremont will be held on Friday, June 8.

Participating in the ceremonies will be three national Methodist leaders, School of Theology at Claremont Dean F. Thomas Trotter will make a major address. Stanley S. Kresge of Birmingham, Mich., Chairman of the Board of The Kresge Foundation, will present the chapel to the School of Theology, and Bishop Charles F. Golden, Los Angeles Area of the United Methodist Church, will dedicate the chapel.

The Kresge Chapel was funded by a $350,000 grant from The Kresge Foundation, the sixth largest foundation in the country. The building is 67 feet high and has a seating capacity of 250, approximately the enrollment of the School of Theology. Windows of the building consist of 528 stained glass panels of gold, purple and green. The chapel is characterized by great flexibility. No furnishing is permanent. A moveable altar enables students to hold in-the-round and other forms of experimental services as well as traditional worship. The chapel was designed by Edward Durell

Stone, internationally-known architect. The Kresge Foundation was established in 1925 by the late Sebastian S. Kresge, Mr. Kresge, who was founder and chairman of the S. S. Kresge Company and later K-Mart chain stores, made an original gift of $1,300,000 to the Foundation and charged it to "promote the well-being of mankind."

Before his death in 1966, Mr. Kresge had given approximately $63 million to the Foundation. The Foundation principally makes grants to well-established, accredited institutions in these fields: four year college and university education; health care and related services; conservation; the arts; and care of the young or old.

The dedication ceremonies on June 8 will begin at 3 p.m. Dean Trotter will speak on "Reality and Reasonance: The Church Returns to Worship."

Stanley S. Kresge will then formally present the chapel to the School of Theology with School of Theology President Gordon E. Michelson accepting the building on behalf of the school. Following will be the dedication by Bishop Golden.

Also participating in the service will be Barry Woodbridge, student worship chairman at the School of Theology.

Kresge served as a vice president and president of The Kresge Foundation before being named Chairman of the Board. He has also been an executive and officer of the

S. S. Kresge Co. Beginning his career at a local store in 1923, he was named a director of the company in 1950 and a vice president in 1951. Subsequently he became Vice Chairman and Chairman of the Board. He has been given the St. George's Award for Distinguished Service to the Methodist Church and has been named Layman of the Year by the Detroit Council of Churches.

Strawberry Kisses And Whipped Cream

From the later part of May through June in Austria, year by year, we did not have to think too hard what our Sunday dessert should be. This was the strawberry season, so every Sunday as long as strawberries were available we had "Baisers mit Schlagobers und Erdbeeren."

For a short time, those tiny, sweetsmelling, aromatic wild strawberries that grow in wooded areas were in the markets. Those were the favorites, otherwise we got the larger, commercially grown ones and sliced them. "Baisers" is the French word for kisses, yet this very dessert never had a translated name. The literal translation would be: Kisses with whipped cream and strawberries.

It is one of the least work-demanding desserts. The meringue kisses may be made well in advance. Stored in a well-closed container in a dry place, they keep well for many weeks.

Every so often we have left-over egg whites, and since meringue kisses consist mainly of egg whites and sugar, they are not very costly. Save your egg whites until you have enough.

They are very easy to make. Just follow the instructions. Be sure that all ingredients are at room temperature. Add sugar very slowly. Beat long enough till mixture stands in peaks. Be sure the oven is at its lowest possible temperature. Meringues should be more dried than baked.

MERINGUE KISSES

4 egg whites
1/4 teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon vinegar
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla flavoring
For the filling and decorating you need:

1 pint of heavy cream, whipped
1/2 cup of vanilla sugar
1 quart or more strawberries, rinsed and dried on paper towels, kept in the refrigerator, and sliced just before using.

Cover a large cookie sheet with waxed paper and put aside. Beat egg whites, salt and vinegar till stiff but not dry. Add sugar gradually, spoonful by spoonful, beating constantly, till all sugar is used up. Add vanilla flavoring.

Drop well-heaped tablespoonfuls of the mixture onto the prepared cookie sheet. You will have about 30 meringues.

Bake in a preheated oven at lowest heat, 200 to 225 degrees F. for one hour. Turn off heat. Open the oven door and let the kisses dry in the oven for another half hour.

Carefully pull them off the waxed paper and place on a wire cake rack to cool.

Sandwich two meringues together with a generous amount of the slightly sweetened whipped cream. Cover the whipped cream with lots of strawberries and serve.

Meringues should be filled an hour before serving. That way only a small part of the meringue will be softened by the whipped cream, the rest will stay nice and crunchy. And the strawberries should be put on just before serving.
